shopping & dining

Shopping in Las Vegas offers the brands and destinations to please shoppers of every stripe.

Sitting in the heart of the Strip is the colossal complex known as CityCenter. This city within a city offers the Crystals shopping venue, designed by the renowned architects at the Rockwell Group, and outfitted with some of the world's premier retailers. Browse the latest collections from Bulgari, Carolina Herrera, Dior, Louis Vuitton, Mikimoto, Roberto Cavalli, Tiffany & Co. and more. Take time to enjoy the extensive art collection, and even take a guided tour with a CityCenter art docent.

When you're looking for something special, you needn't look far. Many hotels feature entire malls. Caesars boasts the luxurious Forum Shops perfect for window shopping or splurging. Planet Hollywood has Miracle Mile, featuring a variety of stores, theaters and restaurants from H&M to Sur la Table. And The Venetian is home to the Grand Canal Shoppes, where you can even explore clothing, jewelry and art by gondola.

Be sure to explore Via Bellagio, Mandalay Place and Wynn Esplanade for everything from golf attire to housewares and even Ferraris. Don't worry. Retailers can arrange to have all your impulse purchases shipped home.

Fashion Show Mall, a spectacle rising above the middle of Las Vegas Boulevard, delivers the goods. Nearly 2 million square feet of shopping, anchored by Neiman Marcus, Bloomingdale's, Saks Fifth Avenue and Nordstrom, offers shoppers an experience, with a variety of shopping and dining venues as well as fashion shows on runways that rise from the center of the mall floor. Be sure to visit the enormous flagship Forever 21.

With just a short hike or cab ride from the Strip, you'll find Town Square, offering more than 130 clothing, housewares, makeup and shoe stores as well as casual restaurants in a charming outdoor setting. You're also only a short distance from the Las Vegas Premium Outlets, with more than 150 designer and name-brand outlet stores. From Coach to Carter's, and Hugo Boss to Hush Puppies.

Whether you're looking for a dynamite dress for dinner, a rare piece of art, premium cigars or just a nice casual stroll and some peoplewatching, the venues of Las Vegas provide that and so much more. You'll find more than enough shopping to work up a healthy appetite.

While the restaurant landscape in Vegas is ever-changing, one thing remains the same – the biggest chefs are continually creating the best dishes in Las Vegas.

CityCenter boasts several of the Strip's newest venues, including Jean Georges Steakhouse and Blossom, both inside ARIA. Twist, at Mandarin Oriental, provides diners with stunning views of Las Vegas. Nearby, find Comme Ca at The Cosmopolitan. With balcony seating in the heart of the boulevard, or a dining room drenched with warm lighting and sumptuous seating, this French restaurant by Chef David Meyers prepares old country dishes to perfection.

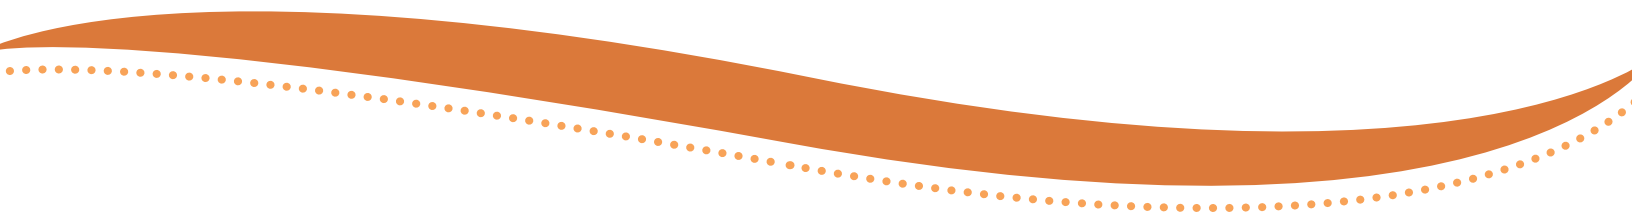

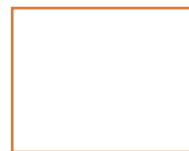

Other notables include Bradley Ogden's self-named restaurant inside Caesars Palace where organic farm-fresh ingredients make up the menu. Wolfgang Puck's CUT, located inside the Palazzo, raises the bar for fine dining. Come taste why CUT was named one of the top steak houses in America by Bon Appetite magazine. Or drop by Simon at Palms Place, where you can soak in the spectacular view of the red rocks while enjoying the simple, mouthwatering flavors of Simon's modern American menu.

If you're looking for a quick, casual bite, try wandering down the streets of New York City at, where else, New York-New York. Enjoy hot dogs, fry cones, deli specialties, and Ben & Jerry's famous ice cream.

There's not only a restaurant for whatever you're craving, but also plenty of places you'll be dying to try. Cuisine from around the world is presented by master chefs at every price point and all over town. Grab a sandwich in a food court or make it a five-star outing with a magical view. You can't go wrong with the palate-pleasing options that abound in Las Vegas.

Tasting really is believing. Begin planning your trip today, and of course, making reservations.
